FAMILY Charades IN-A-BOX® COMPENDIUM

CONTENTS:

- 30 second sand-timer
- 6 decks of charades cards: 60 cards per deck
- 1 spinner to keep everyone on their toes
- 1 pencil, 1 score pad
- 1 giant set of instructions featuring all the hand symbols you could possibly ever want to know

OBJECT OF THE GAME

Players must perform and guess a whole host of fun charades that will have everyone laughing out loud. The team with the most points after 12 rounds wins the game!

BEFORE YOU START

Select which of the six charades games you want to play. Shuffle the cards and place the deck within easy reach of all teams, making sure that the charades side is facing down.

If you are playing Picture Charades, skip this section, and move ahead to the section entitled Playing Picture Charades.

Divide into teams, with at least two players per team. There is no limit to how many players can be on a team, nor do teams need to have an even amount of players.

If one team has younger players, you can play two games at the same time. For example, a younger team could act charades from the Kids Charades deck, while a more experienced team could act charades from the Time Capsule deck.

Choose one player to be the scorekeeper.

The team with the youngest player goes first (Team ONE).

PLAYING THE GAME

The following section is for Kids Charades, Family Charades, Animal Party, Hollywood, and Time Capsule. If you are playing Picture Charades, skip this section, and move ahead to the section entitled Playing Picture Charades.

Team ONE selects one member to be the first actor (this role must rotate between all players on the team - every team member must be an actor before the first player can take on this role again).

Each card has three charades. Spin the spinner. This will determine which charade the team should act.

Team ONE acts the first charade on the card

Team ONE acts the second charade on the card

Team ONE acts the third charade on the card

Team ONE may select any one charade they want to act

The team to the left (Team TWO) selects any one charade from the card, which Team ONE should act

Team ONE acts all three charades on the card in any order they want.

Beside each charade is a number which indicates how long the actor has to perform the charade. Any player on an opposing team flips over the sand-timer, and the actor now has 30 seconds to act the charade for his/her teammates. For 60 seconds, flip the sand-timer over again, and once again for 90 seconds. If the "ALL THREE" was spun, the actor has 90 seconds to act all three charades on the card – irrespective of what is written beside each charade.

The actor must not:

- Talk, hum, or give any other verbal clues
- Mouth words or letters or draw letters in the air
- Point to any object in the room

When a charade is guessed correctly within the allowed time, Team ONE earns 1 point, and the scorekeeper writes the points earned in the appropriate space on the score pad. If the charade is not guessed correctly, the scorekeeper writes a zero on the score pad. If the "ALL THREE" was spun, the team receives 1 point for each charade that was guessed correctly.

A charade is only guessed correctly when a teammate calls out the complete charade as written on the card. For example, if the charade is "hitting a grand slam homerun" and the guesser only says "hitting a grand slam", the charade has not been guessed correctly.

The card is now placed at the bottom of the pile, and play moves clockwise around the room to Team TWO.

Once all teams have completed 12 rounds, total up the scores. The team with the most points wins the game!

PLAYING PICTURE CHARADES

Picture Charades are designed for children who are still too young to read. It is all about being imaginative and having fun. For this reason, we do not recommend playing Picture Charades with a sand-timer, nor do we recommend playing for points. Everyone should play together on the SAME team.

The oldest player is the first actor. The role of actor must rotate between all players on the team - every team member must be an actor before the first player can take on this role again.

The actor now has an unlimited amount of time to act the charade for his/her teammates. The guessing can continue until the charade is guessed correctly, or until the actor gives up.

It is very important that players be allowed to act whatever they interpret from the card. If the card has an "apple" pictured on it, but the actor is trying to have people guess the word "red", that is certainly okay for Picture Charades!

Once the charade has been guessed, the card is placed at the bottom of the pile, and play moves to the next actor. Play continues until everyone has had enough fun for the day!
